December 2018

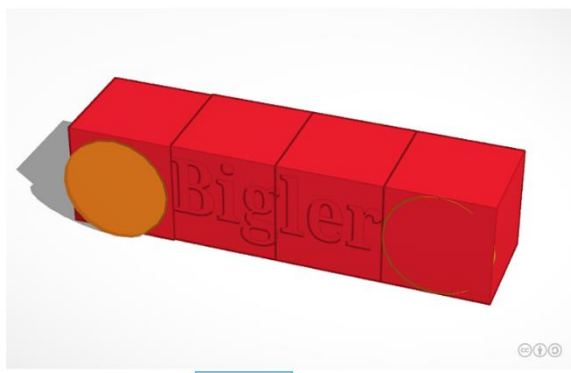

Navajo Code Talkers Presentation

Through the Arizona Humanities Council, the library hosted Dr. Laura Tohe, who spoke about the Code Talkers contribution to World War II. She also explained how they used their spiritual beliefs to treat post-traumatic stress disorder and how the military honored them for their service.

Holiday Open House

The library hosted its holiday open house on December 13th with performances from the Ruth Powell School Choir, Triumphant Learning Center's Choir and the Pima Ward 4th Ward Cub Scouts. There were also several readers, including Chief Brugman reading Twas the Night Before Christmas and a reading of Como el Grinch Robó la Navidad. The Friends of the Library also had a bake sale in the lobby throughout the day.

Teen Program – 3D Printing

The library had teens create their own images on TinkerCad to be printed on the 3D printer recently purchased through an Arizona State Library grant. Each participant will come in to pick up their 3D image the week of January 7th.
